

4th Sunday in Ordinary Time

All were amazed and asked one another, "What is this? A new teaching with authority. He commands even the unclean spirits and they obey him." His fame spread everywhere throughout the whole region of Galilee. - Mk 1:27-28

Today's readings invite us to reflect on several themes: consider the words of prophets; listen with open hearts to the true voice of the Lord; and hear the authority in the teachings of Jesus.

In the first reading, we find Moses reassuring the people that someone will come after him to continue to reveal the message of God. Moses would not be with them forever and the people needed to know someone would continue to share the messages.

While Paul in the second reading may seem to be expressing the benefits of unmarried life for Christians, the truth of his words is deeper than that. Paul and his followers expected the second coming of Jesus to happen at any time. Paul wanted to stress to his listeners that all followers of Christ needed to avoid the trappings of the temporary and earth-bound life. He was reminding everyone in the community to dedicate themselves completely to God. We need to give God our undivided attention.

Jesus speaks with authority in today's Gospel. He heals a man possessed by demons. Yet the healing isn't what catches the attention of those in attendance. It is his teaching. Did they not listen to the words of the demon telling them exactly who was in their midst? "What is this? A new teaching with authority?"

Speaking of teachers, today begins Catholic Schools Week. As a product of 16 years of Catholic education and teaching in a Catholic school for over 25 years, I feel a sense of cheer about this week. It causes me to reflect upon the many teachers and administrators who made so many sacrifices in their careers to prepare me for the sacraments and who assisted me in understanding my faith. However you arrived in the assembly of faith today, give thanks today for the religious instruction you've received from homilists, teachers, catechists, religious writers, retreat directors, and role models. Do what you can to make that rich experience available to others.

The theme of our celebration is "Catholic Schools: Learn. Serve. Lead. Succeed." The theme encompasses the core products and values that can be found in Catholic schools across the country. Our educators grow as they teach the students to become future servant leaders, faith-filled disciples and enriched citizens in our communities. In Catholic schools, we are all learners, servants and leaders. These shared qualities are what make Catholic schools work. They are what make Catholic schools succeed.

I am grateful every day for the teachers, staff, board members, parents and volunteers who make our school a success. National Catholic Schools Week is a good time for all of us to thank them for their dedication and service.

Our Catholic schools are part of our future as a Church and a nation. May God bless St. Patrick School and all who contribute to the important work we do on behalf of the children of our parish.

Go Warriors! Patricia O'Donnell, M.Ed.,

Beloved Children
of the Father 2018
St. Patrick Parish
MALVERN, PA

Since the celebration of our 100 Anniversary in 2015, we have established themes as a focus for our parish community and a guide for our worship. These themes emphasize a particular gift or grace offered by God to assist us in our relationship with Him. As we begin this new year, I encourage each of us to embrace the 2018 theme ~

Beloved Children of the Father.

As His Beloved Children, we have been part of God’s love story. He has shared His life and love with us and desires for us to rest in His embrace. Chris Stefanick, an acclaimed Catholic author and speaker, spoke about the great love story of the Catholic Church at the 2017 National Catholic Youth Conference saying, “This love story doesn’t just show you who God is. It shows you who you are.”

So, who are we? We are Beloved Children of the Father! Perhaps this is a new concept or view for many of us. Yet, God the Father desires for us to know that we are indeed deeply loved. The Father shares that love unconditionally and invites us to be embraced by it. We are also called to share that never-ending love with all those we meet. We are reminded of the depth of the Father’s love in John’s Gospel, where we read “For God so loved the world that he gave His only Son, so that everyone who believes in Him might not perish but might have eternal life.”

We, as God’s children, must remember we are involved in the beautiful love story of God’s never-ending love for each of us.

This theme, inspired by the deep and personal love of our Father, reminds us that no matter our age—we are sons of Hope and daughters of Faith. We are beloved by Him, and asked simply to Be with Him.

I pray this year that we may come together and recognize ourselves as individuals who are truly beloved children of an infinitely loving God.

St. Patrick, pray for us!
God Bless You! –Father Redcay

Parish Survey

St. Patrick’s will be participating in a parish survey about discipleship conducted by the Catholic Leadership Institute. The survey will ask you to reflect on your own spiritual growth and provide feedback on our parish’s efforts to help you grow. All responses will be confidential and the parish will only receive information about the community as a whole. This information will be invaluable to Fr. Redcay, the parish staff and our various ministries as we plan for the future and strive to be the best disciples we can be.

In order to maximize our response rate, please be sure to update your email address with the parish office. We will receive the results this spring/summer at which time we will share what we have learned with the entire parish. The survey goes live on February 5th and will be primarily accessible online but paper copies will be available to those who need them.

Thank you for helping with this important project!
