Staff Reflection

Do we live each day with an awareness of our battle against evil?

“Deliver us from evil...”

In this petition/prayer from the Our Father, “evil” is not an abstract idea, but it refers to a person, Satan, the Evil One, the fallen angel who opposes God. (Catechism of the Catholic Church, CCC, 2851). The Church teaches that Satan was at first a good angel, made by God: “The devil and the other demons were indeed naturally created good by God, but they became evil by their own doing...when they radically and irrevocably rejected God and His reign.” (CCC, 391-92). It is the irrevocable character of their choice, and not a defect in the infinite divine mercy, that makes the angels’ sin unforgivable. “There is no repentance for the angels after their fall, just as there is no repentance for men after death.” (CCC, 393).

In Mark’s Gospel today, a man is possessed by an unclean spirit. Demons and “unclean spirits” are synonymous terms in the Gospels for invisible, supernatural beings who wreak havoc in human life and are sometimes able to control an individual of whom they take possession. For Mark, as for the whole New Testament, evil is not an impersonal force but is concentrated in invisible, malicious, wicked beings who are determined to destroy human beings and hinder God’s plan of salvation for them. The Church has always taught that demons are real spiritual beings, fallen angels.

The bad news is that demons are real and that they are determined to deceive us into sin so that we turn away from God and, ultimately, end up in hell in total misery, away from God for all eternity.

The good news is that the authority of Jesus, as reflected in the Gospel today, is infinitely superior. Through His cross and Resurrection, Jesus definitively conquered the powers of hell. For the present time, however, Satan and his demons are in battle against each one of us for our individual souls.

We must remain vigilant at all times. Prayer and the Sacraments, especially frequent reception of the Eucharist, help to protect us again Satan and his demons.

As St. Paul writes in his letter to the Ephesians: “put on the armor of God.”

Finally, draw your strength from the Lord and from his mighty power. Put on the armor of God so that you may be able to stand firm against the tactics of the devil. For our struggle is not with flesh and blood but with the principalities, with the powers, with the world rulers of this present darkness, with the evil spirits in the heavens. Therefore, put on the armor of God, that you may be able to resist on the evil day and, having done everything, to hold your ground. So stand fast with your loins girded in truth, clothed with righteousness as a breastplate, and your feet shod in readiness for the gospel of peace. In all circumstances, hold faith as a shield, to quench all [the] flaming arrows of the evil one. And take the helmet of salvation and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God. (Ephesians 6: 10-17)

God Bless

Deacon Tom
